

Kinder Prep & Kinder

2024-2025 Information Packet

The Study is excited to continue to offer Academic Kinder Prep & Kinder for the 2024-2025 school year. The flexible curriculum may include Saxon and A-Beka Math, Heggerty, A Reason for Spelling, A Reason for Handwriting, and Sunday's Reading Readiness curriculum called: Let's Play, Learn.

Let's Play, Learn is for students in Pre-K and an intervention program for students who are needing additional pre-reading skills. The lessons provide structured, systematic instruction that builds a logical and natural progression to deliver appropriate instruction at every level. Strands in each lesson include a variety of strategies, activities, and materials designed to teach phonological awareness, rapid naming, alphabet, shapes, vocabulary, prewriting, printing, picture and listening, comprehension, and letter names and sounds. Let's Play, Learn aligns with the National Pre-K Standards and can be utilized in all tiers of Response to Intervention (RTI) models.

Students will participate in other activities including computer use, physical education, music, and foreign language.

- Our program will run from August 2024 through May 2025.
- Students will wear uniforms (tan or navy khaki pants and maroon polo shirts)
- Parents must send a sack lunch with their child every day except for Fridays when pizza is provided for the students.
- School begins at 8:30am and ends at 2:30pm. Students may be dropped off as early as 8am.
- Full time Tuition is $750 per month plus tax. There is no tuition for August, as it is a short month.
- Half-time Kindergarten Prep is available on a limited basis. Parents have the option of bringing their child M-F from 8:30am-11:30am or Monday, Wednesday & Friday from 8:30am-2:30pm. Half-time Tuition is $590 per month plus tax.
- Tuition is due before the 10th of the month. Late tuition will be charged a 5% penalty. If tuition has not been paid by the end of the month, then a student cannot return to school until payment has been made or payment arrangements have been discussed with the Administrative Assistant.

The Study's Late Pick-up Policy

We at The Study pride ourselves on our small school size, which allows us to provide a holistic, quality education. However, our small size does not allow for additional staff to provide childcare services.

We understand that emergencies can happen, however in order to prevent chronic late pickups, we have implemented the following late pick-up policy.

We allow a 10-minute grace period for parents who may occasionally run late. If a parent/guardian cannot pick up their child on time, The Study should be notified as soon as possible. By 10 minutes after your child's appointment is scheduled to end, all children are expected to have been picked up by a parent or guardian.

Parents or guardians arriving 15 minutes late or later will be charged an additional per-child group tutoring rate in 30-minute increments. Our current group tutoring rate is $24 per half hour. The late fee will be added to your student's invoice and billed on a monthly basis.

Connections and IDEA will not pay for late pick-up fees.

Reading to your child is...

A gift... accept it

An adventure... dare it

A duty... perform it

An opportunity... take it

A journey... complete it

A promise... fulfill it

A struggle... fight it

A goal... achieve it

A puzzle... solve it

Introducing Reading

It is important to read to children because children who are read to become lifelong readers.

Getting Started

- Make time for reading every day
- Find a comfortable place to read with your child
- Choose books with bold pictures to entice your child

Early Stages

- Look at the book together and talk about the pictures

Later Stages

- Focus more on the words by pointing to each one as you read
- Talk about what happened in the story or what might happen next
- Visit favorite books often– children will begin to learn story patterns and pick up vocabulary

Suggested Book Types

- Wordless Books– books with only bright pictures
- Picture Books– books with pictures and some text
- Rhyming Books– books with words that rhyme
- Predictable Books– books with repetitive word patterns
- Short Novels– books with a few chapters
- Concept Books– books with words including opposites, shapes, and other concept words
- ABC Books– books about letters in the alphabet

Know your Child's Learning Style

PLAY is an important aspect to your child's development. Knowing your child's learning style can help guide you to choose toys and games that are appropriate for your child's age and interests.

Choose Toys That...

- Allow creativity, are open-ended and powered by your child's imagination
- Span several stages of development– blocks that may be stacked by a 2-year old may be made into a castle or space station by a 5-year old
- Stimulate more than one of your child's senses of sight, sound, touch, smell, and taste
- Challenge your child to understand new concepts
- Encourage imaginative play, creative expression, or role play
- Keep your child focused and help develop his or her attention span
- Have a high interest level and make your child want to play with it often
- Encourage problem solving and strategic thinking

Children usually fall into one of the following three learning styles: auditory, visual, or kinesthetic. No one is limited to just one of these learning styles, but understanding your child's predominant style can help you find ways which will enhance his or her play experiences and the learning that results from them.

Auditory Learners

- Understand best by hearing a concept explained. They might have a knack for music, foreign languages, or phonics.

Visual Learners

- Grasp a concept best by seeing the information or making pictures in their minds. Visual learners enjoy building with construction sets, working puzzles, looking at books, and studying maps.

Kinesthetic Learners

- Enjoy hands-on activities. They learn best by doing and prefer activities such as flying a kite, tracing letters in a book, or pushing a toy car.
